The Funny Bone I understand perfectly...

After 35 years of marriage, a husband and wife came for counseling. When asked what the problem was, the wife went into a tirade listing every problem they had ever had in the years they had been married. On and on and on: neglect, lack of intimacy, emptiness, loneliness, feeling unloved and unlovable, an entire laundry list of unmet needs she had endured. Finally, after allowing this for a sufficient length of time, the therapist got up, walked around the desk and after asking the wife to stand, he embraced and kissed her long and passionately as her husband watched, with a raised eyebrow.

The woman shut up and quietly sat back down as though in a daze. The therapist turned to the husband and said, "This is what your wife needs at least 3 times a week. Can you do this?"

"Well, I can drop her off here on Monday and Wednesdays, but on Friday, I fish."

7 Ways to Pay Kindness Forward

1. Offer your seat on a bus or while waiting somewhere
2. Pay for the order of the car behind you at a drive-thru
3. Slip a note into the pocket or lunch of a loved one that simply says "Someone loves you right now"
4. Offer to babysit for a friend who needs a date with their spouse
5. Drive someone to the airport for a flight and sit in the terminal to watch people meet up with newly arrived loved ones
6. Invite a friend to take a walk with you (you both win!)
7. Volunteer at a pet or homeless shelter or elderly facility

No Bake Peanut Butter Bars

Bars:

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup butter
1 cup peanut butter

Frosting:

1½ cups chocolate chips
¼ cup peanut butter

In a bowl, melt butter and peanut butter together. Add cracker crumbs and sugar to butter/peanut butter mix. Spread mixture evenly into a 9×13 pan. Melt chocolate chips with peanut butter in 30 second intervals in the microwave, stirring between each, until melted and smooth. Pour chocolate mixture over bars, and frost evenly. Chill for 40-50 minutes until chocolate is set.

Remember CDs? Remember AOL?

Did you know that at one point in the 1990s, 50% of all CDs produced worldwide were for AOL?

So whatever happened to AOL? It's still around. It's a media branding company. It owns well known names like TechCrunch, The Huffington Post, Moviefone, PatchMedia, Stylelist and MapQuest.

And whatever happened to all those CDs? I think they're all still in my closet!

A Lincoln Being Saved by a Booth?

Everyone knows that John Wilkes Booth assassinated President Abraham Lincoln. But here's something the history books tend to leave out: A Booth once saved a Lincoln's life.

In the midst of the Civil War -- and about a year before President Lincoln was murdered -- Edwin Booth, a famous Shakespearean actor and John's eldest brother, and Robert Todd Lincoln, the president's sole surviving son, were waiting in line to buy tickets at a Jersey City, New Jersey, train station. Robert accidentally got shoved next to the train, and when the train began to move unexpectedly, he began to fall in the sliver of space between it and the platform. In a 1909 letter to the editor of The Century Magazine, Robert wrote, "I was twisted off my feet, and had dropped somewhat ... into the open space ... when my coat collar was vigorously seized and I was quickly pulled up and out."

Robert claimed to have known who Edwin was and expressed his gratitude to the Booth brother by name. Edwin -- a Unionist and Lincoln supporter who voted to re-elect the president -- had no idea who he had saved, but eventually found out years later, when Robert recounted the chance meeting.

From the Desk of Nancy

I want to personally thank all of our customers that made 2013 the best year ever. We ended up with our tenth Food Drive for the Oregon Food Bank as a complete success.

We had people dropping off cases of food without expecting anything. One special person brought 15 bags of groceries. Several people dropped off money. Special thanks to the Pod People for donating it. This year we filled 11 barrels. Keep watching for total pounds

Winter Storm Names Reflect the Power of Brrrr!

With names like Atlas, Electra, Hercules, Kronos, Maximus, Titan and Vulcan you can respect those winter storms. The Weather Channel started naming Winter Storms (the same way Tropical Storms in the summer get names) in 2012. While it has gotten mixed reviews from other “weather experts”, I like the idea that it’s easy to communicate with others if you say “My father-in-law had to shovel for an hour when Falco hit his town!”

Here’s the complete list for 2013-2014:

Atlas, Boreas, Cleon, Dion, Electra, Falco, Gemini, Hercules, Ion, Janus, Kronos, Leon, Maximus, Nika, Orion, Pax, Quintas, Rex, Seneca, Titan, Ulysses, Vulcan, Wiley, Xenia, Yona and Zephyr.
